ATTENDING VETERINARIAN AND ADEQUATE VETERINARY CARE (DEALERS AND EXHIBITORS).

The program of veterinary care states Ivermectin at a dose of .3 mg/kg will be used for heartworm prevention for the border collies. The licensee states he uses Eqvalan, a paste form of Ivermectin labeled for horses for the dogs ,however he was not sure of the correct dose to give the dogs . Eqvalan paste is not listed on the program of veterinary care to be used for heartworm prevention. Overdose of Ivermectin may cause serious health problems in breeds such as Border Collies. The attending veterinarian must be consulted concerning the proper heartworm prevention product to be used in these dogs . The written program of veterinary care must be amended to reflect the drug and correct dose to be used for heartworm prevention. It must be followed to ensure proper veterinary care is provided.
