Dear Lex Talamo,

The National Flea Market Association recently had an opportunity to review your petition regarding the sale of animals at flea markets, specifically, dogs.

On behalf of the members of the National Flea Market Association we offer the following response to the investigation and petition.

The National Flea Market Association represents one of the earliest and sustainable bastions for free enterprise nationwide. However, we do not condone the unethical treatment of animals of any kind at any of our member markets and remain steadfast against any such infractions.

We have encouraged our member markets to work with local resources to ensure humane conditions exist in the limited number of member markets who allow the selling of animals.

If I can be of any assistance, please reach out to me.

Sincerely,

Rick Landis
President
National Flea Market Association
